HEALTH BOARD SELECTS NURSE FOR CITY POST

Graduate of Salem City

STATE WILL PAY
HALF OF SALARY

Board Expense for Year
Reported During Meeting

Miss Olive Dickey, of New Castle, Pa., was appointed public health nurse at a meeting of the Salem board of health, Friday night, and will assume her duties Feb. 1.

Miss Dickey is a graduate of the Salem City hospital. Her salary was fixed at $1,800, half of which is to be paid by the state, and the remainder by the city.

Appropriation for the amount of the nurse's salary to be paid by the city, and expenses to be allotted her during the year was made by Salem city council in the annual appropriation ordinance, following request of Health Commissioner T. T. Church, that the nurse was needed greatly in the city.

Expenses of the board of health for 1928 were reported being $3,167.20. The state will defray $600 of this amount. Sanitary Officer George Campbell issued a financial statement which reported his collections for last year, from dairy and food and plumbing inspections at $355.50.

Dr. Church was requested to forward a letter to Lee S. Lanpher, member of the board who Thursday removed to Jacksonville, Fla., thanking him for his cooperation in work done by the body in the past year.

The vacancy caused by Lanpher's resignation will probably be filled by appointment by Mayor Phil G. Hiddison, chairman of the board, at the next meeting.

Under the direction of Robert M. Lambie, chief of the state department of mines, rescue squads were being mobilized to release the imprisoned men.

GRAHAM McNAMEE TO SPEAK, SING IN SALEM

Radio Announcer Coming
Feb. 7 Under Auspices
Of Quota Club

Graham McNamee, famous radio announcer will appear at the High school auditorium Thursday evening, Feb. 7, under the auspices of the Salem Quota club. It will be a benefit for the club's treasury.

McNamee combines a delightful evening of song and story in his lecture-recital, "You're On the Air." Chain broadcasting of outstanding sporting and political events has made McNamee's name a household word throughout the eastern half of the United States, and his "Good evening, ladies and gentlemen" of the radio audience" is recognized by radio listeners all over the country.

A peculiar ability to word-picture scenes which are occurring before his eyes in such a manner that his invisible audience can readily visualize them, combined with a cool head and magnetic personality which registers even in his voice, have carried McNamee to his present outstanding position in his unusual profession.

In personal appearances, these same qualities have stood him in good stead, with the result that his services are in constant demand as a speaker. Moreover, his excellent baritone voice which was rapidly carrying him to fame on the concert stage before he joined WEAF as an announcer, is becoming almost as well known as his speaking voice.

As a pioneer in a brand-new profession, Mr. McNamee's personal experiences have been highly interesting. His recollections of some of the broadcasts he has handled, told in his own colorful manner, have contributed greatly to the success of a large number of dinners and entertainments. And no matter what the character of the event, his personality and his unusual adaptability have enabled him to put the members of his audience at their ease and to keep them highly interested.

Was Boy Soprano
Mr. McNamee first gained prominence as a vocalist while living in St. Paul, where he appeared as a boy soprano and later as a concert and church baritone soloist. According to his account, he "walked into" WEAF's studio one afternoon during the summer of 1923, wondering whether or not he possessed the necessary requirements for an announcer. His capabilities were tested, and he was engaged on the spot.

Among other outstanding broadcasts, Mr. McNamee is remembered for his descriptions of the Democratic convention of 1924, the inauguration of President Coolidge, "The World's Series baseball games of 1923, 1924, 1925 and 1926, the Dempsey-Tunney, the Dempsey-Pirpo bouts, and the Leland Stanford-Alabama football game on New Year's day, 1927, from Pasadena, California, and the last political conventions at Kansas City and Houston.

PETITION URGES CITY KEEP NAME OF MAIN STREET

State Street Is Opposed
As Name; Objections
To Others Heard

A petition, asking city council to retain the name Main street, was being circulated through the business district of Main st. late Friday by R. C. Kridler, business man.

Within a short time several signatures had been attached to this petition. It will be presented to council at its next meeting, Feb. 5, when the ordinance changing names of several streets in the city will be given its final reading.

The purpose of the ordinance is to eliminate more than one name for streets which now bear from two to three names, to change a few others and to provide for renumbering all streets by means of the block system.

As the ordinance now stands, the main street, which now bears the names of Roosevelt ave., Main st. and McKinley ave., would be known as State st. from the western to the eastern boundary lines of the municipality. The petition opposing this change urges that the original name of the entire thoroughfare be re-established. From the time the city was founded until recent years this was known as Main street.

City council refused to act on the ordinance under suspension of rules in order to give residents opportunity to voice objections. The petitions circulated Friday was the first organized effort to oppose any provisions of the measure, although much objection has been heard to changing Chestnut st. to Broadway. This objection is based on the fact that it would be ridiculous to term such a narrow street Broadway.

Rescue Men On Ice Floe; Cold Severe

Buffalo, Jan. 26.—Four fishermen, taken off crumbling ice floes in Lake Erie by coast guardsmen last night after having been marooned for three hours, were recovering today from their exposure to the elements. They suffered intensely from the cold.

Those rescued were James Reardon, 39; Leon Jovenet, 40; and James Eberhardt, 23, all of Buffalo; and Henry Willis, 27, of Lackawanna.

The rescue was made in the nick of time. Only a small portion remained of the original floe on which they had gone adrift.

Believe Men Wanted In Several Ohio Cities
For Holdups

East Liverpool, Jan. 26.—Ernest Bananno, 30, of Lima, and James Kelley, 20, of Toledo, were captured by Wellsville police at 10:30 Friday night after kidnapping Officer Chester Smith of East Liverpool. The men are believed to have been those participating in a gasoline station robbery here Wednesday night and are thought to be wanted in Pittsburgh, Lima and Akron for similar robberies.

Officer Smith was patrolling his beat and noticed the license number of a car, which had stopped for a traffic signal, contained the same three numerals as were available after partial identification of the holdup car in the robbery here. He stepped on the running board. One of the occupants pointed a gun at him telling him to remain where he was.

The officer fell from the car as it rounded a street corner. Wellsville police were notified and halted the car as it entered the city limits.

Search revealed extra cans and hats in the car. The men had over $200 in their possession. Most of the money being in small change the police reports state.

Wellsville police are holding them on charges of carrying concealed weapons. It is probable that they will be removed to East Liverpool today to face the charges of robbing the filling station.

Following the robbery of the station Wednesday night the men kidnaped the attendant and released him in Wellsville.

SOUTH DEMANDS ATTENTION FROM HERBERT HOOVER

Suggest S. W. Cramer for Naval Secretary On
New Cabinet

INTERESTING ANGLE
IN WILBUR POST

Present Secretary Should Return Favor Of Cramer

Miami Beach, Fla., Jan. 26.—The drive of the new Republican south for a place in the Hoover cabinet is daily assuming larger proportions.

While the president-elect pursues sail fish and tarpon in Florida's celebrated keys, there is gathering on Miami Beach a formidable array of southern Republicans awaiting his return. Their numbers increase daily—in proportion to their determination that cabinet recognition must be given the fact that four states of the erstwhile solid-south became converted to Republicanism last November.

The spearhead of this drive is Stuart W. Cramer, wealthy North Carolina manufacturer, and the purpose of it is to make him secretary of the navy. He has the backing of most of the new Republican leaders of the south, who were active in the Hoover campaign. No other southern Republican has such united backing, nor is there another, south of the Mason-Dixon line, who apparently has the claim possessed by the North Carolinian.

Wilbur Must Leave
For Cramer to become secretary of the navy, however, pre-supposes the elimination of the present head of the navy, Curtis D. Wilbur, who came into the Coolidge cabinet largely upon the recommendation of Mr. Hoover himself. Thus far Sec-

UNKNOWN MAN SHOOTS DOCTOR

Recovery of Physician Is Doubtful, Hospital
Officials Say

Steubenville, O., Jan. 26.—Shot down by an unknown assailant last night, Dr. Frank L. Bowsher, 42, prominent physician lay near death in a hospital here today with three bullet wounds in his body.

The shooting took place in front of the doctor's residence. Neither the victim nor members of his family could ascribe a motive for the attack. Before lapsing into unconsciousness, Bowsher told police that his assailant appeared to be a foreigner of medium build and of a dark complexion.

Bowsher was shot in the right side, the right shoulder and the right eye. Physicians at the hospital held little hope for his recovery.

Residents Request Road Improvement

Lisbon, Jan. 16.—Petitions have been filed with the county commissioners seeking the permanent improvement of the old "state road" extending from the intersection of the Lincoln highway at the east end of the road, and west through New Garden, New Alexander, Chambersburg to Moultrie, where it will connect with the Moultrie-Stark county road. The latter road will be surfaced this spring.

The road passed through Guilford in Hanover township, the location of the new state park. Property owners have also suggested that this highway could also be improved from the end of the paved road at the county home, thence westward to Guilford where the state road would be tapped.

It is said that the commissioners look with favor upon the improvement of this road, but it is not likely that any work will be authorized until the county is in a position to finance its share of the work.

Find Wrecked Plane In Mountain Wastes

Reno, Nevada, Jan. 26.—Aid was being rushed today to the Utboeing airplane which with three persons on board was forced down in the Ruby mountains of eastern Nevada.

Missing since shortly before noon Thursday, the plane was located just before dusk last night by Pilot Harry Hocking of the Boeing company at a point near Secret Pass in the Ruby range.

One man was standing by the fallen plane which did not appear to be badly damaged, according to Hocking's report upon his arrival here.

Hero Of Rescue

Never a false move does Captain George Fried make in an emergency. No sooner had he been apprised of the location of the S. S. Florida in distress off the Virginia Capes, than the hero of the Antonio disaster, gave the orders that sent the S. S. America racing at top speed to the doomed vessel's assistance and rescued the crew.

CITY PREPARES GALA RECEPTION

Honors to Captain Fried
And Crew Will Be Tendered

New York, Jan. 26.—The heroic captain and crew of the United States liner, America, this afternoon will receive the first installment of New York city's welcome in recognition of their feat in saving 32 men aboard the sinking Italian freighter, Florida.

As the liner neared Ambrose light ship this morning, city officials prepared to board the welcoming boat, Macon, which was to meet the America at quarantine this afternoon. Airplanes will drone a greeting from the sky, and every citizen fortunate enough to own a motor boat prepared to join the procession of harbor craft whose sirens will shriek a welcome to the returning heroes.

Another feature of the welcome will be a water display by the city's fireboats at the Battery.

A wireless from Capt. George Fried, the gallant master of the America, stated that the ship would not reach quarantine before 1 o'clock this afternoon and perhaps later than that. Due to the uncertainty as to the time of the America's arrival, it was decided to pay homage to the heroic mariners on the installment plan. The inevitable parade up Broadway through a barrage of ticker tape, the official reception by Mayor Walker, and the presentation of scrolls to the crew, were postponed until noon Monday, because the downtown business district will be practically deserted this afternoon.

Salem police located a source of the city's liquor supply for bootlegging activities, through the arrest of two men, and the confiscation of a giant, 45-gallon copper still, 40 gallons of mash, and 30 gallons of whiskey, following a raid on a Wilson st. residence late Friday afternoon, by Police Chief T. W. Thompson.

Cornels Mero, 39 Wilson st., arrested at his home by Thompson, pleaded guilty before Mayor Phil G. Hiddison, when arraigned on charges of manufacturing and possession of intoxicating liquors, and made arrangements to pay fines totalling $800 and costs. A fine of $500 and costs was imposed on the manufacturing charge, and $300 and costs on the possession count.

The still is said by police to be one of the largest ever captured in Columbiana county. It was not in operation, but according to police, indications were that it had been used recently for manufacture of the quantity of whiskey confiscated in the basement of Mero's home. It was the second still confiscated by Salem police in Mayor Hiddison's administration.

ARE YOU EATING BUTTER?

Those patronizing first-class hotels and restaurants no doubt have assumed, if they have given the matter consideration at all, that they were being served butter at their meals. Possibly they have been so served, and possibly they haven't. The thing is open to doubt. If what representatives of the dairy farmers of the land told the rules committee of the lower house of congress, a few days ago, may be credited.

The members of the committee were told that such is the latest triumph of scientific synthesis that what is taken for butter in many restaurants, including some of the most exclusive cafes and hotels, is nothing but coconut oil, peanut oil, and fish oil, emulsified and solidified into the consistency of butter, and given a beautiful golden dairy butter color by the use of annatto dye, which is secured from the seeds of a tropical tree. "It looks like butter," the members of the committee were told, "it smells like butter, but it isn't butter."

If the scientists have turned out something that looks like butter, smells like butter, and, presumably, tastes like butter, and there are no injurious ingredients in it, one might ask: "What's the difference?" That is, one not a dairy farmer might ask. The dairy farmer isn't looking at the proposition from the consumer's viewpoint, but rather from his own. His view is that, if the synthetic butter is permitted to compete with the product of the cow, the time is not far away when the cow will become as rare as the dodo, which is generally understood to have become extinct.

The cause of the grief of the dairy people is that the oleomargarine law of 1883, designed to put a crimp in the sale of colored margarine which were threatening the butter interests, does not cover the new product. At that time butter was only about one-third the price it is now, and the tax of ten cents a pound brought the price of colored margarine—the tax on the uncolored was but a quarter of a cent a pound—so near that of the genuine article that people were willing to pay the extra difference in cost and purchase butter. With butter costing what it does now, the makers of synthetic butter can well afford to pay the ten-cent tax and yet sell their product away below the cost of real butter.

But this isn't the worst of the situation, as the dairy people see it. The new substitutes for butter have been classed by the federal food authorities as "cooking compounds." Hence, not being classed as oleomargarine, these cooking compounds may be colored and sold as butter substitutes without the payment of any tax.

And here we have another of the long list of problems which have come from the farm. The farmers engaged in dairying want protection. And the farmer raising peanuts comes back and asks why the dairy people should be protected at his expense. And so does the man who sells coconuts. And the fish oil people ask: "Why show such favoritism as the dairy people ask?" And all those who produce the chief raw materials going into the "cooking compounds" charge that the bill reported for passage by the agricultural committee of the house is simply a move by the dairy and oleo interests combined to stifle competition.

And there may be something in the charge. In this old world of ours, there's a heap of selfishness.

N. Y. CENTRAL MAY ELECTRIFY

Some months since the Pennsylvania ran advertisements announcing that it would expend $100,000,000 for motive power and all-steel passenger equipment and a like sum for the electrification of something like 300 miles of its lines out of eastern points.

Now comes the announcement that the New York Central is considering plans to run trains from

New York City to Buffalo with power from Niagara Falls.

The New York Central's project, if carried into execution, will occasion an estimated expenditure of $75,000,000. Covering a distance of nearly 500 miles, it would far surpass the 300-mile undertaking announced by the Pennsylvania, and prove the outstanding example of railroad electrification east of the Mississippi river.

It is said that the New York Central is not figuring that the economies in operation resulting from the electrification of the line between the two points mentioned will greatly, if any, overbalance the heavy installation charges, but that it is considering the plan because of its conviction that electricity is the only power that will move passengers and freight traffic at high speed.

Not so long ago the New York Central began providing equipment of the highest and most approved type for its high-class trains. Should it electrify its line for the distance planned, it would be in position to furnish service second to none in the country, and no doubt greatly augment its passenger business, as well as facilitate the speedy handling of its freight, for there can be no doubt but what travelers prefer the cleanliness assured by electric power to the cinders and smoke which are inevitably the result of the use of coal in locomotives.

What Others Say

The country owes a vote of thanks to judge and jury in the Ranieri kidnapping case, in Chicago. The challenge of the Black Hand has been courageously answered. Open threats of death, reinforced by the assassination of an important witness, failed to deter these citizens from doing their duty.

More has been at stake than just the fate of the Ranieri kidnapers. If threats and violence had freed the defendants in this instance, then Chicago and other cities would have had to look forward to more and more frequent employment of such tactics in other criminal cases.

For the protection of the accused innocent, American law provides that no man shall be punished until his guilt is established beyond a reasonable doubt in the minds of twelve of his peers. But, for the protection of society, it is equally important that there shall be no coercion of the twelve. Scared juries begot immune criminality, immunity in time begets mob violence, and mob violence begets chaos.

REMOTE INFECTIONS
OFTEN RESPONSIBLE

By Royal S. Copeland, M. D.
United States Senator From New York, Former Commissioner of Health, New York City

As we go through life we pick up one disease after another. If you are 30 or 40 years of age and have never been sick, you are lucky. If you are 50 or 60 and have escaped disease, it is little short of a miracle.

Of course a lot of the ailments we have are of little consequence. They may annoy us but are not serious.

Swelling of the joints, or of a single joint, is a condition often met. Whether or not this is an important symptom depends on its cause.

What are the causes of swollen joints? There are a number. The first that comes to my mind is an injury of some sort. An accidental blow upon the hand, the hip, the knee, or the elbow, may be followed by swelling.

Following the injury there is pain, perhaps pronounced pain. Pretty soon the joint is swollen and red. With rest and simple treatment, the symptoms disappear. If they do not, more energetic treatment will be necessary.

It is not difficult to understand the nature of a swelling due to an injury. But it isn't so easy to figure out what is wrong when some underlying disease is responsible for the trouble. There are such cases and it may be that their first sign is a swelling of one or more of the joints.

Among such diseases are tuberculosis, rheumatism, scurvy and pus formation in remote parts of the body. So far as rheumatism is concerned, we cannot disregard the probability that a localized infection somewhere is at the root of the difficulty.

Joint tuberculosis is entirely different from tuberculosis of the lungs, the usual form of the disease. It is not accompanied by the cough, pain in the chest and other familiar symptoms of "T. B." as it is called by almost everybody.

Of course there may be some fever, loss of weight, paleness of the skin, the common signs of a mild form of tuberculosis. But inability to use the joint is a pretty good sign something has interfered with its function and that something may be tuberculosis.

Redness, swelling, heat and pain in one of the joints are the traditional symptoms of acute rheumatism infection. The chronic type is quite lacking in these pronounced disturbances. In this form there may be swelling and tenderness on handling, but no pain of any consequence and no redness.

Bad teeth, pus-infected gums, a running ear, disease of the tonsils, of the intestinal tract or gall bladder, may be responsible for such cases. Swollen and distorted joints for instance of the finger, may be traced to one or another of these local troubles.

It is important to take care of the swollen joint and attempt to keep it from growing worse. It is even more important to discover the seat of the original trouble. By getting rid of the remote cause the joint will get well and there will be no further trouble—trouble sure to result if there is neglect.

Answers to Health Queries

M. T. Q.—What can be done for uric acid and pains in the limbs and back? I have trouble with my bowels.

A.—Proper attention to your diet, avoiding too much meat and excessive sweets should help you to some extent. When the acidity has been cleared up the pains will probably disappear.

News From Farms Of Mahoning County

The annual Holstein banquet, announcement of which was made last week will be served in the parlors of the First Presbyterian church at Canfield. The ladies of this church have long been noted for their ability in serving excellent meals, and this alone assures the Holstein breeders and friends of a sumptuous dinner.

The Coltsville Community Institute will be held in the new auditorium on Wednesday and Thursday, Jan. 30 and 31.

The first session will begin Wednesday at 1:15 p. m. W. W. Nims and Mrs. Lottie Randolph will be the speakers, also demonstration by the 4-H Club girls.

Evening session begins 7:45 p. m. Nims and Mrs. Randolph, speakers, 15 minutes of amusement by the men.

Thursday at 10 a. m., school session, Supt. of Schools W. L. Richey, presiding.

At 1:15, the sessions will be divided. There will be both a women's and a men's session.

Evening session begins at 7:45 p. m. Dr. Delma Traenkle, presiding. This will be the women's session and they will furnish the amusement. A five-pound box of candy is to be given to the men or women who furnish the best evening's amusement. There will be a prize given at each session in addition to the box of candy.

Farm Bureau women will serve an oyster supper on Wednesday evening from 5:30 to 7, and the women of the Presbyterian church will serve supper on Thursday evening from 5:30 to 7.

The meeting of the women keeping household accounts was one of the most interesting sessions held in the Farm Bureau office this year. Those who had kept accounts for 1928 compared notes on the various expenditures necessary for maintaining a home.

Some interesting comments on keeping account were made by the group—mainly in reasons for doing this work. Some given were: "Accounts take time but are very interesting. You will look at a dollar before you spend it for something foolish which you don't like to enter on your book." "Find how much it costs to board the hired man." "To find out where dipping is too deep and where not enough." "How to live best on least money." "To gain information." Some report husbands interested and one reports husband used household accounts with farm accounts as an aid to finding where the family money is spent.

Those keeping household accounts for 1929 are: Mrs. Frank Agnew, Mrs. William Kenrich, Mrs. M. R. Wright, Mrs. Maggie Taylor, Mrs. J. W. Kyle, Mrs. C. L. Stackhouse, Mrs. M. C. Huffman, Mrs. E. N. Beardsley, Mrs. Allen Dickson.

St. Louis Man Goes On Trial As Bandit

Indianapolis, Jan. 26.—February 5th has been set as the trial date for Charles Phayer of St. Louis, alleged member of the bandit gang that on May 30 last year swooped down on the exclusive Broadmoor Country club here and robbed the guests attending a dance of jewelry and money estimated at more than $200,000.

Phayer is at liberty on a bond of $10,000. He was admitted to bail recently to attend the funeral in St. Louis of his wife who committed suicide.

Phayer was arrested as the result of attempting to pawn a valuable unique watch stolen in the holdup.

The other bandits in the robbery have not yet been apprehended.

Holy Trinity English Lutheran, McKinley ave. at Woodland ave. Rev. George D. Kolster, pastor. Septuagesima Sunday. Sunday school 9:45. (Acts 2:1-21). J. A. Pehr, superintendent.

What a blessing was the gift of the Holy Spirit to the lonely apostles when Christ ascended to heaven! He should be none the less a Comforter to every Christian today. It is He, "who calls, gathers, enlightens, and sanctifies the whole Christian church on earth," today.

Morning worship 11. Sermon: "The Open Door to the Knowledge of God."

We are living in an educated and enlightened age. The borders and bounds of ignorance are pushed back farther and farther. We are happy that such is the case. Yet how limited is the understanding that many have of God, and there can be no any more important bit of knowledge to a human soul. Is this coveted knowledge only for a limited few? Surely not, the certain method is given by Jesus Christ.

Services Sunday, Jan. 27, Septuagesima Sunday. Church school, 9:30; morning prayer and sermon, 11.

The Christian's mind is now set towards Easter. We follow Christ in His great fast of 40 days. In His temptation, to Calvary, to the tomb and beyond to the Resurrection day. Septuagesima is the first Sunday that points towards Easter. It occurs nine weeks, or about 70 days, before that great festival, hence its name, Septuagesima or the seventieth.

The design of the Christian calendar has already led us to the study the First Coming of Christ, and to look forward to His return in glory. We have also stood in thought at His manger bed and watched His infant years. The great purpose of His coming has been brought clearly before our minds. Now we are called to look within and to discover in ourselves, in the light of the Holy Spirit's teaching, the reason of the Saviour's sufferings, and the purpose of His redeeming work.

POLICEMAN SHOT IN GUN BATTLE

2 Near Death Following Attempts To Arrest Chicago Bandit

Chicago, Jan. 26.—A policeman was shot and probably fatally wounded and a suspect sought by police, barricaded in an apartment, was perhaps mortally wounded here, Friday in a terrific pitched battle in which four squads of detectives employed tear gas, machine guns, revolvers and riot guns.

Policeman Walter Skolny was shot in the abdomen. John Scerba, suspect, was shot five times.

Patrolman Skolny and his partner, Sergt. James Kilgore, went to the Scerba residence to arrest the man. When they knocked upon the door they were met with a volley of shots. Skolny fell.

Kilgore summoned riot squads who were greeted by volleys from the barricaded bandit.

The detectives surrounded the building and hurled tear and gas bombs through windows, following these with round after round of shots. They rushed the door, smashing it down and found Scerba on the floor, unconscious from bullet wounds.

Today Marks 50th Year Of Marriage For Salem Couple

Saturday marked the 50th milestone in the wedded life of Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Stitt, Garfield ave. There was no special celebration of the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Stitt spent their early life in Clarion county, Pa. They lived at Atchison, Kan., and Kansas City, Mo., for a while and from the west came to Pittsburgh to live.

For 42 years Mr. Stitt was manager for the Bell Telephone company and this company sent him from Pittsburgh to Salem in 1890. They lived here until 1917 when the company sent him to Oil City, where he was until 1922, when he was retired. From Oil City they came back to Salem to make their home. They are well known here.

Mr. and Mrs. Stitt have two children, William Stitt, of Pittsburgh, and an adopted daughter, Mrs. Pearl Taylor, of East, Calif.

Mr. Stitt in speaking of his pleasant voyage on the sea of matrimony stated "that he hoped it would be 50 years more."

HOOVER

retary Wilbur has not indicated that he wished to give up Washington life. Secretary Wilbur's friends contend that if he was eminent enough to command Mr. Hoover's endorsement for the Coolidge cabinet, he now is eminent enough to stay in Mr. Hoover's own cabinet.

The situation is further complicated by the fact that Wilbur and Cramer have been life long friends. They were classmates and roommates at the naval academy, graduating in the class of '83. They resigned from the navy on the same day and entered business. Wilbur went to law and Cramer to the manufacturing business. Wilbur became chief justice of the California supreme court; Cramer became the leading cotton mill owner and operator in the south.

Tell of Appointment
In this connection, an interesting story is told of how they almost became cabinet colleagues in the Coolidge administration. The authenticity of the story is well established.

The story goes that after Edwin Denby had resigned as secretary of the navy, because of the oil scandals, President Coolidge had reason to anticipate the similar resignation of Harry M. Daugherty as attorney general. It was his intention to bring Wilbur into his administration as attorney general, and Cramer as secretary of the navy. Both were summoned to Washington. The hitch rose when Daugherty did not resign, and at that time Mr. Coolidge did not choose to ask for his resignation.

President Coolidge, the story goes, called both men to his office, explained the situation to them and observed that whereas he had expected to have two posts he had only one, the navy.

"In that case, Mr. President," Cramer is reported to have said, "there is only one candidate, my friend, Judge Wilbur."

Wilbur received the appointment, and Cramer returned to North Carolina to continue his manufacturing activities, but not until he had spent a month with his old-time friend and bunk-mate, helping him get his departmental administration organized and under way.

Now the sponsors of Cramer for a post in the Hoover cabinet are contending that it is up to Secretary Wilbur to return the act of self-abnegation, retire voluntarily, and await the next vacancy on the bench of the supreme court of the United States.

This is only one of the many perplexing patronage problems that Mr. Hoover is trying to thresh out between fishing trips through the Florida keys.

WEST SIDE CLUB

Officers for the ensuing year were chosen at a meeting of the West Side Community club Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Zimmerman, Damascus rd. Sims Bill Is Cause Of Attack And Reply; Write Legislature

Lancaster, O., Jan. 25.—Rising up as one man, the physicians of this county today had protested the editorial in the American Issue, official organ of the Anti-Saloon League, which charged that the Sims bill which would permit prescription of a pint of liquor every ten days was backed by "physicians who want more whiskey but who do not want their names known."

The Sims bill, which is now pending before the state legislature, in brief allows the prescription of a pint of liquor every 10 days, where heretofore only a half pint had been allowed in the same period.

"An insult to the medical profession at large," the physicians of this district charged in a resolution signed by every member of the Fairfield County Medical society, the physicians said that the editorial showed "gross ignorance of the Saloon League."

The measure was introduced before the legislature by C. L. Sims, Fairfield county, a dry representative from a dry county, at the request of the medical society here.

Chillicothe, O., Jan. 25.—The Ross county Academy of Medicine today has dispatched telegrams to their district representatives and senator at the state legislature at Columbus, asking them to lend their support to the Sims bill.

manufacturing liquor for some time. Conducting an investigation near his home about 5 o'clock last night, he stopped Christen, and placed him under arrest after a search through his person revealed two quarts of liquor in pockets of his coat.

Placing handcuffs on Christen, he took him to Mero's home, entered, and searched the place. Several jars of whiskey were found on the first floor, the report states, more on the second, while kegs of whiskey and the barrels of mash were discovered in the basement with the still.

Christen was brought to city jail and Thompson, with Patrolman Ralph Steffer returned to the residence, and wielding an axe and clubs smashed the containers of whiskey and mash, and brought Mero and the still to city hall.

Sufficient evidence was collected, and the men were arraigned before Hildeson this morning. Christen was returned to jail for non-payment of the fine, while Mero was released after he completed satisfactory arrangements to pay.

Four Indian Boys Study Customs Of Diminishing Race

Anadarko, Okla., Jan. 26.—Reviewing the customs and traditions of a rapidly diminishing race, is the task undertaken by four Indian boys members of the poverty stricken Iowa tribe, whose reservation is near here.

Spencer Aash, Joseph Kokeah, Steve Moppe and Monroe Tsakota, apparently were just like the other boys of the tribe. They grew up on the reservation, went to the school conducted by the government, and were allotted their average number of acres from which they were to eke out a scant living from the rock infested soil.

But those four lads had other ambitions. They were not content with the meager education furnished in the reservation school. They wanted to go to a university.

With the aid of a few dollars, gathered here and there, earned mostly by the sale of products of their few scant acres, they enrolled in the Pine Arapahoe of the University of Oklahoma.

The university authorities heard of their desperate efforts to gain an education and assisted them in every way possible — secured them jobs for their board and room and a chance to earn a few dollars at odd jobs.

But even with that help the four lads found the going hard. As a result they were forced to withdraw and return to the reservation.

And now the four boys, with the help of two or three of the "braves" on the reservation, are giving exhibitions of their tribal dances before white audiences through the south-west.

Convict Accuses Bandits of Holdup

Detroit, Jan. 26.—Harry W. Watson, brought here from Jackson prison where he is serving a life term for his confessed part in the Detroit News holdup, today declared in recorder's court before Judge Charles Bowles that Tow Jawski was one of the men actually involved in the holdup and killing of Police Sgt. William E. Barstad.

Watson was a surprise witness at the examination of Jawski on a first degree murder charge. At the request of Assistant Prosecutor Louis Weitzman, he stepped from the witness stand and touched Jawski. Leon Weber, 29, and Frank Hallas, 25, each on the shoulder, declaring all three had participated in the holdup and that they were aided by Harry Kraft, now at large.

Paul Jaworski, recently executed in Pennsylvania, led the bandits in the holdup, Watson said.

Ice Sheet Delays Highway Traveling

Lisbon, Jan. 26.—Traveling salesmen who planned to leave Lisbon for Canton Thursday evening refused to make such a journey until about noon Friday, the delay being caused by the ice on the Lincoln Highway west of Lisbon. Employees of the state highway department at Lisbon placed cinders and salt on the Canton hill west of Lisbon, and also on Green's hill south of the Salem-Lisbon road in the vicinity of Shelton's Grove.

Lisbon hotels were crowded Thursday night. Motorists were unable to see the road on account of rain freezing on windshields, and Lisbon people enroute from western points stopped after arriving at Minerva and did not arrive at Lisbon until Friday morning.

FORMER KAISER CELEBRATES HIS 70TH BIRTHDAY

Large Gathering Forms At Doorn For Observance

Doorn, Holland, Jan. 25.—The man who once was king will observe his 70th birthday tomorrow. He is now plain Wilhelm Hohenzollern, but a dozen years ago he was German emperor, king of Prussia and the titular head of one of the greatest armies the world has ever seen. Even then his rule was slipping under the sledge hammer blows his army was receiving upon the battle line, but he occupied his throne as head of a mighty empire with dominions over the seas.

All week long guests have been coming to Doorn from all parts of Germany to bring felicitations to the "silent man of Doorn"—the man who once was king. He still typifies monarchy and, while it is admitted even by his staunchest followers, that he will never rule again, the monarchist spirit typified in him has been brought prominently forward in Germany upon the occasion of this birthday.

Army officers, notably Field Marshal Von Mackensen—once known as the "battering ram of the German army" because of the smashing blows of his particular army group—came bearing gifts and felicitations.

There came, also, representatives of such militarist-monarchist organizations as the Steel Helmet League.

In addition there were many members of the Hohenzollern family who were invited for the birthday festival.

While Wilhelm disclaims any connection with the German monarchist movement, and has told visitors that he is not interested in the political activities of his fatherland, it was a pertinent fact that the German royalists have increased their activities at this particular time.

Doorn house is crowded to overflowing with visitors. Some of the guests are being cared for at the nearby castle of Count Bentinck.

The birthday celebration actually started this evening with a dinner at Doorn house where Wilhelm will observe the position of honor at the head of the table.

Wilhelm and his second wife, Princess Hermine, are receiving their guests informally.

RADIO NEWS AND PROGRAMS

Listeners to WGN, the Chicago Tribune station on the Drake Hotel will be delighted to hear of the return of Henry Selinger to the air January 28. This remarkable violinist, well known long before his radio debut as a member of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, director of the Drake Concert Ensemble and of the Selinger Trio, had considered his duties as program director of station WGN more important than his Monday evening recitals. So, a disappointed public listened in vain for the familiar sound of his Selinger's violin. Now, in response to the clamorous letters received, the violinist resumes his series of recitals at the usual time, 9:30.

Another remarkable feature of the Monday evening program from WGN is the combination of a colorful baritone, a full concert orchestra, and a splendid dance orchestra, Lawrence Salerno, baritone, reflects his Neapolitan nativity, not only in his choice of songs, but in the poetic singing of them. Instead of the customary piano accompaniment, that of the WGN Concert Orchestra, a full symphony orchestra of 20 pieces. When considering dance music, Jean Goldkette and his WGN dance orchestra are the real breath takers of the air. Each of its 14 members is a true devotee of the African Art or Jazz.

HAWAIIANS AT WORK

The Argentine tango, "Y Como Le Va," will contrast with the syncopation of "Crazy Rhythm."

Red And Black Flashes Great Form In Sixth Consecutive Win

Salem High Annexes Easy 42-28 Victory Over Warren Outfit

Coach Floyd Stone's glittering hardwood artists flashed into the limelight of district basketball activities with double-fold glamour, last night, when they stretched their season's winning streak to six consecutive victories, by easily swamping Warren High, 42-28, at the Salem High gym.

The score itself goes only a short way in narrating the decisiveness of the Red and Black quintet's victory. Warren never had a chance, but gave fandom many a thrill, by fighting the Red and Black to a standstill despite overwhelming odds. Salem started a scoring rampage while the shriek of the whistle, starting the game, still reverberated through the gymnasium, amassing a 12-3 lead at the end of the first period, and had piled up a 23-8 margin at the half. For a time it looked as if Warren was to receive its worst licking over a period of six years, for Captain Ed Sidinger and his basketballers continued the scoring rampage in the third quarter, and were represented on the long end of the 38-12 count, when Stone gave his under-studies a chance in the battle.

Warren, taking advantage of the new five's inexperience, narrowed the Red and Black's lead down to 12 points, collecting 17 counters in this last period, to Salem's wee four.

The game itself was not the classiest performance of the season, but the splendid work of the Stonemen was a pleasure, and appears to be the final indication that the team has found itself, and give the best of the district a scrap for titular honors.

Salem Starts Early

The fray started out with everything pointing towards the resulting Salem victory. Warren was helpless in attempts to force the ball through the Red and Black's defense, and snagged only one field goal during opening period. Sidinger and Cope each flipped in a fielder to start things off, and Greenisen added a counter from the free throw mark. Cope sneaked through from his defensive position to grab a nicely placed heave from his skipper, and whizzed in his second fielder, and Salem had a 7-0 lead before the Warrenites had an attempt from the field.

Cope was called for stiff-arming A. DeSantis, who scored his outfit's virgin point. Loner, fouled by Whinnery, failed to connect from the charity line, but Lewis, following through, zipped in a two-pointer. Whinnery tipped the leather to Sidinger on the center-ball, but Ed was fouled in the act of shooting by Titus, and the ball continued on into the gallery.

The Salem captain scored one of his two free shots, and followed in his second attempt by grabbing the ball from the Trumbull county aggregation to cage his second field goal of the quarter. Cope plunked in his third one from action, simultaneous with the shriek of the quarter whistle.

Warren Weakens

Warren floundered badly at the start of the second period, and Salem's lead, which was 12-3 at the quarter, increased to 18-3, before Lewis scored two free throws, after being fouled by Sidinger. Whinnery's foul shot started the quarter. Sidinger and Cope each zipped in a field bucket. Scullion grabbed himself a point from the foul-line, and Greenisen whizzed through with a sweet piece of work from the side of the floor, which resulted in the score standing at 20-7, Lewis having come through with the longest affair of the action, from past the center of the court. Whinnery closed point-making for the half with a sensational shot from the side and a gift basket.

The delayed offense of the Salemites had Warren baffled in this half, but the worst, apparently was yet to come. Starting the third quarter, it looked like Warren had solved the puzzling attack, and for a minute or so, held its own. But it was only for a minute—perhaps less, for before the Trumbull county aggregation was able to annex a solitary point in the period, Salem had showered in 11. Smith, who replaced Jimmy Scullion late in the second quarter, heaved in the first field goal, and Whinnery counted a

Tribute Paid To Christner; Though Sharkey Wins Scrap

BY DAVID J. WALSH

New York, N. Y., Jan. 26.—Lightning isn't supposed to strike twice in the same place, but it did at Madison Square Garden last night, thus making an awful tramp out of the spectators, but otherwise leaving the situation unchanged, a very marked manner. It was the same lightning with which K. O. Christner prostrated Knute Hansen a month ago and it struck exactly in the same place, to wit, the jaw. But, unfortunately it was another jaw. A rather impressive one.

Jack Sharkey deftly blocked a lot of those right hands with his profile for five rounds last night and then came right on in the last five to win pretty much as he fancied, the result being that the battle of the beach front at Miami was saved to posterity.

A gallant soul, this Christner. He has the hide of the vulcanized rubber he handled in the pits at Akron and the will to make the most of his physical assets. Only the heart-whole of this life could have stood up under the right hand uppercuts with which Sharkey belabored him in the later rounds. It is to be doubted whether Sharkey himself would have cared very devotedly for his own punches. He probably would have taken an awful licking if he had been in there leading for his own goatee.

Being the man he is, Christner's licking wasn't an awful one. In fact, the witnesses seemed to be unduly perturbed by the decision and prattled their way out of the place in a fine frenzy of indignation.

Decision Fails to Please
I am unable to account for the demonstration. According to my scoring, Sharkey won six rounds, Christner three, and one was even. At the end, Christner was punch-weary, with heaving chest and drooping legs.

But this type from the tire shops had made a great fight against one of the ranking heavyweights of the age and needed no part of a palliation for the performance.

The fight he made, indeed, was so good for five rounds that he all but stole the show. Sharkey apparently thought he was in there with a clump, for he let Christner carry him off his feet with a series of right crosses in the opening round, and again in the fourth, he was beaten to the punch with alarming regularity. Christner, throwing a right near the bell that hurt Sharkey's ancestors.

The second went to Sharkey because of the punches he dropped in Kayo's sun parlor and the third was even so this Oyster from Oyster was doing right well indeed, when the fifth round opened. He started

Willie Bowls Over Another Set-Up

New Orleans, La., Jan. 26.—With another knockout victory under his belt, W. L. (Young) Strubling looked forward confidently today to his important fight with Jack Sharkey at Miami Beach, Fla., on Feb. 27.

In his final bout before the Sharkey go, the youthful Georgia heavyweight scored a technical knockout here last night over Ralph Smith, the "stage heavy" who appeared in a New York theatrical production with Jack Dempsey last fall and was knocked out six nights and two matinees every week. Smith used to go two rounds with Dempsey and lasted little longer against Strubling. Referee Jimmy Moran stopping the slaughter in one minute and fifty seconds of the third round.

Havana Asks Berth In U. S. Baseball

Montgomery, Ala., Jan. 26.—Cuba wants to become connected with American organized baseball.

Cliff Green of Montgomery, president of the Southeastern league, has been invited to visit Havana for the purpose of investigating the possibilities of admitting the Cuban capital into the association.

Should the Havana team be brought into the league, Miami would be entered as eighth member, it was said.

Montgomery, Ala., Jacksonville, Fla., Savannah, Albany and Macon, Ga., and Tampa, Fla., now form the Southeastern loop.

Mt. Union Flashes Attack On Kenyon

Alliance, O., Jan. 26.—Jumping to the lead from the starting whistle, and going like a house on fire, Mt. Union smothered Kenyon here last night, 54 to 16. Mount opened up a fresh attack at the beginning of the half, and guarded Kenyon's forwards so well they had few opportunities to even attempt the basket.

Myers, flashy Mount forward, tolled heavy with eight buckets and four fouls for a total of 20 points.

Salem Girls Display Strong Defense And Capture Fourth Win

The Red and Black was flaunted in victory for the fourth time in five contests, Friday night, by Salem High lassies, when Coach Anne Oelschlaeger's sextet flashed through with a scintillating triumph over Warren High, by a 23-19 score.

Warren always boasting a classy feminine aggregation, was outclassed in early periods of the fracas, but staged a tornado-like comeback in the final half, and threatened strongly to issue the Salem girls their second reverse of the season. Passwork of the Red and Black in first two periods was almost flawless, but the team let down considerably in the last two quarters—almost to its own disaster. Facing a 10-point lead at the half, Warren, by persistent hard scrapping, reduced the handicap to two points early in the fourth quarter, and was well on the way to its third consecutive victory, when the Salem defense tightened, and was once again almost impenetrable.

The game was one of the roughest girls' affairs seen here in seasons, a total of an even 30 fouls being called. Both teams evinced willingness to mix it, and made it as sensational an affair as it was rough.

Warren Scores First
Most of the points scored in the first half were scored via free chances, Salem collecting 10, and Warren eight from the foul line.

The Warrenites held a brief lead, at the start, Berovich popping in the first goal from action, Lewis adding one from the free throw mark, to place their outfit in front with a 3-0 lead.

The margin was held for only a short time, however, as Kent annexed the first Salem counter—a free throw—and Litty evened the count with a basket from the field. Fouls comprised the rest of the scoring in the opening session. Salem adding five more, and Warren two, and the score stood 8-5 at the period, Salem ahead.

The second quarter marked play of the Salem sextet at its best during the fracas. Moyer's foul shot was the only point accredited to the Warrenites, Salem compiling a total of two more fielders and a brace of four fouls to account for its 16-6 lead at the half.

Salem Defense Stars
With the Salem defense working smoothly, the game seemed safely tucked away, at the start of the third quarter, but suddenly the de-

Leader in the opening period and played a classy brand of ball. Moyer was the outstanding Warren performer.

Defensive work of the Salem guards was probably the big factor in the Red and Black's victory, last night, as it has been in past encounters. In Captain Barnes, Moss, Lieber, and Reich, the Red and Black boasts a strong set of defenses, which last night displayed a classy type of ball, with the exception of the third period.

Valuable Dog

Wabash, Ind., Jan. 26.—Patty, a small wire-haired terrier owned by Dr. and Mrs. Fred Bent, was the proudest dog in Wabash today. She has a silver tooth!

The pup whinniped for several days, suffering from a toothache. So Dr. Bent, a dentist, took the dog to his office where an examination disclosed a cavity in the pup's tooth.

The dentist filed the tooth with silver. Patty acted like a human in utterly failing to enjoy the proceedings but she has stopped her whinnipings. Also Dr. Bent pointed out she is worth more now than before as silver is valued at $1 an ounce.

Delightful Salads That Really Are Different

Salads are popular in nearly all countries, but the Russians excel in making heavier varieties. In fact the Russian table is that from which we have borrowed many excellent dishes, as they were fashion leaders in table furnishing and food service before the French chefs came into prominence. They were especially famous for their hors d'oeuvres. Vegetable salad, now world famous, originated in Russia where it was most carefully and attractively made and served.

Russian Vegetable Salad

Cook the needed number of carrots, potatoes, beets, peas, cauliflower, turnips, string beans, broad or lima beans. Each vegetable is cooked alone after its kind until tender but not soft, drained well and set to cool. An onion is grated, a few chives are cut fine, and a little of the tenderest white celery is chopped, or cut, rather fine. A good mayonnaise is made without mustard, half of which is converted into dressing by coloring a delicate pink with tomato catsup, and adding to it a teaspoonful each of the chopped pepper, grated onion, chives, a teaspoonful of minced celery leaves, a minced gherkin pickle, and six chives chopped from their stems in wee pieces.

Next moisten each kind of vegetable in the dressing best suited to it, adding a little pepper and salt to the root vegetables, a few capers to the potatoes, carrots, and turnips, Russian dressing over the cauliflower, cut in small flowerets. Wipe the salad dish with a cut bud of garlic, fill large lettuce leaves with the various vegetables, or if preferred the vegetables may be lightly mixed before putting into the lettuce leaves. Make a center of stuffed deviled eggs and place stuffed tomatoes around the edge. And sprays of fresh watercress for an edging.

STYLE EDICTS

Paris, Jan. 26. — Light-weight woollens will continue their successful career in the dressmaking world this spring and summer, judging from the very early collections coming out. They are as soft as the spring zephyrs themselves and the patterns are varied and fancy as those for silk.

The crepe weaves will be particularly good and the woollen voiles are strongly endorsed by the leading French makers. One of the fabric-makers has a whole series of light novelty woollens, including voiles with a satin back. There are also novelties in wool and silk mixtures which have recently come forth. A crepe roman in wool is another. They are offered in all the delicate pastel shades which evidently will be very popular when the robes sing again.

There are some nice woollens for sport dresses of crepe or light pastel tones, embroidered with plumetis, one showing tiny airplanes in two colors, another flowerets of one tone. There is a woollen with large lacquered border in a heavier weave which is very good for coats in all varieties of colors. It is still to be seen whether the sheer, light-weight velvets will have a place in the spring and summer wardrobe. They have had such an unprecedented vogue this fall and winter that it is more than likely they will be laid away for some future day.

Shantung and tub silks are expected to be important for spring. They come in plain and striped patterns.

Russian Meat Salad

Dicenaately a half-cupful each of cold cooked tongue, ham, roast beef and boiled chicken. Wipe the salad dish with a cut bud of garlic and place in the center of the dish a cupful of tartar sauce in a large lettuce leaf. Place neat piles of the different meats around the plate separating them by strips of boned anchovies. Cut crisp lettuce into ribbons and make a wreath around the outside of the dish. Garnish the meats with sliced stuffed olives and quartered deviled eggs.

Old-Fashioned Veal Salad

Dice carefully two cupfuls of cold roast veal shoulder. Mix with it a cupful of chopped celery, a tablespoonful each of minced pepper and grated onion. Add a tablespoonful of capers to a highly seasoned mayonnaise. Add a cupful of crisp lettuce cut in ribbons with the kitchen scissors. Wipe the inside of the salad bowl with a cut bud of garlic. Fold the dressing into the salad so it is entirely moistened add a little salt and cayenne pepper. Fill lettuce leaves with the salad or place in a lettuce-lined bowl, and garnish with stoned olives and hard boiled eggs cut in thin slices.

Salmon, Mayonnaise and Potato Salad

Potato salad long has been sacred to cold cuts, but is not as familiar used with fish.

Boil a three pound chunk of fresh salmon until done but not broken. Remove, drain, take off skin and the big bones without breaking and place in the center of a salad dish and set to chill. When ready to serve cover the rest of the plate with lettuce leaves and cover with a ring of well made potato salad. Mask the salmon with mayonnaise colored a delicate green and garnish with olives, fillets of anchovies and minced red pepper.

Cucumber Ring Salad

Pare three cucumbers and slice in inch-thick slices. Remove the seeds and stuff with highly seasoned cream cheese. Place on lettuce leaves, mask in mayonnaise, and garnish with red peppers cut in strips, olives stuffed with anchovies and quartered, deviled eggs.

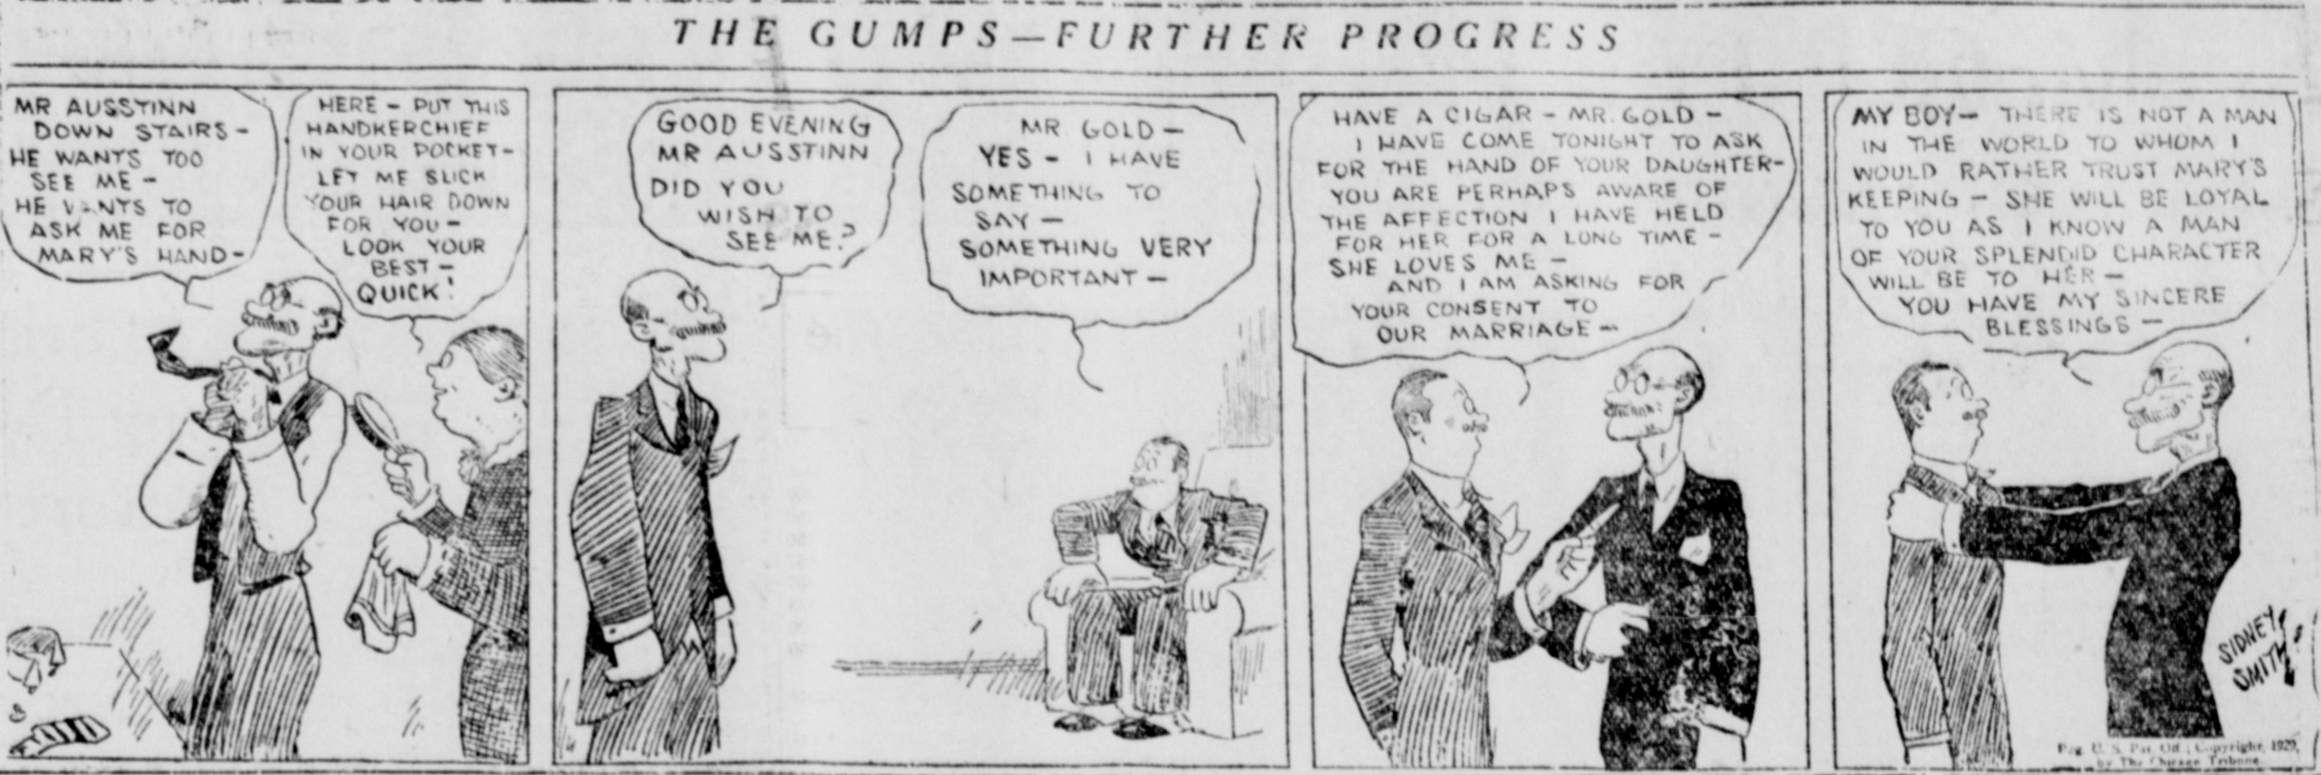

COLUMBIANA

The Franklin Boosters basketball team won their seventh straight game of the season Tuesday evening on the Columbiana floor, adding the Brannon Clothiers of Alliance to their growing list of victims. The score was 55-43, and might have been larger had Kenneth Dowd been in the game, but illness kept him out. Barbe, Hawkins and Burkle were the Columbiana luminaries.

The Columbiana team in the second game of the evening defeated the Fairfield ex-Highs 31-27, while the opening game resulted in a 31-14 victory for the New Waterford Bears over the Columbiana Tigers.

Three games are also on the schedule for next Tuesday night, the Boosters meeting the East Palestine Aces, while the Columbiana tackle the East Palestine Merchants and another preliminary is being arranged.

The Wide Awake class of Grace Reformed Sunday school held their January business and social meeting Thursday evening in the church parlors, following the weekly prayer meeting. A member of the class, Mrs. Helwig, who is leaving this neighborhood soon, was an honored guest. The hostess committee, composed of Mrs. Hosea Shaffer, Mrs. Harry Wagner and Miss Effie Renkenberger, served a delicious lunch. Mrs. Lester Rapp and Mrs. Thom-

MOVIES

In Playhouses Of Salem

A Colleen Moore-Antonio Moreno feature, "Synthetic Sin," the famous war picture "Spies," and Lillian Gish in "Wind."

These three pictures compose the head-lined bills at the State and Grand theaters next week with this trio is the new European sensation, Lila Damita, in "Forbidden Love," a dramatic romance of a poetic ring-battle, "Celebrity," and Charles Rogers' new scenario, "Someone To Love."

Amusements for the week appear to be at a high peak in class.

"Wind" is at the State Monday and Tuesday, Lane Hanson, the imported Swedish star plays with the demure Lillian Gish are the leaders in the play, which was adapted from the famous novel by Dorothy Scarborough. It is a vivid romance of life and love in the desert country of the southwest, with its sands, winds, cyclones, and other terrifying storms pictured excellently.

Miss Gish plays the role of a southern girl, raised in luxury, but is suddenly, by financial reverses, thrust into the hardships of the desert country, married to a man she detests.

"Synthetic Sin"

The Moore-Moreno vehicle comes to the fore in this city, Wednesday and Thursday, appearing at the State. "Synthetic Sin" is the story of a little Virginian girl, whose ambition to be a great actress leads her into a romantic series of adventures. Having failed miserably in her first appearance on the stage, she is determined to go to New York to "see life." Her obvious innocence and sweet personality defeat her purpose, and she finds that inhabitants of the underworld strive to protect her instead of giving her the experience she wants.

She becomes involved in a deadly gang war, which is the climax of the dramatic narrative. "Spies" is an adventurous tale of methods of inside warfare. Rudolf Regge, the continental Lon Chaney has the leading role of the master spy, with Gerda Maurus, cast as his assistant.

The love theme-lofty, impressive and compelling—has been admirably developed for the screen in "Forbidden Love." It deals with a princess, who, while seeking forgetfulness of a sorrowful past, falls in love with a novelist in Paris. They are about to be married, when fate calls her back to her own country—heiress to the throne. It is at the Grand Wednesday and Thursday.

Comic Fight Story
Kid Reagan, a small-time ring fighter develops a mania for poetry and Circus, his little manager waxes wroth. The Kid is repeatedly kayoed by third-raters, and as a result, the full stomachs of both scrapper and manager are endangered. Their efforts to stage a comeback into the flinty limelight provide the fun in "Celebrity," at the Grand Monday and Tuesday.

Buddy Rogers and Mary Brian are headlined in "Someone To Live" at the State Friday and Saturday. Rogers is ideally cast for his new role—that of assistant in a music store, while Miss Brian seems to have found her best suited position in screenland as his leading lady.

Programs for the week:

Monday and Tuesday—"Wind"; Cartoon; comedy, "Rah Rah." Free China night.

Wednesday and Thursday—"Synthetic Sin"; comedy, "Clunked on the Corner." News, Topics.

Friday and Saturday—"Someone To Love"; Fables; comedy.

GRAND
Monday and Tuesday—"Celebrity"; comedy, "Man Without a Face."

Wednesday and Thursday—"Forbidden Love"; "Stage Fright."

Friday and Saturday—"Spies"; comedy and serial.

ROYAL
Monday and Tuesday—"Across the Atlantic"; News reel; Collegians.

Wednesday and Thursday—"The Cheer Leader"; News; Western Picture; Comedy.

Friday and Saturday—"The Danger Rider"; "Tarzan the Mighty"; Special News feature, the Graf Zeppelin's Flight; also comedy.

Royal Features
The leading feature of the week at the Royal appears to be Monte Blue in "Across the Atlantic." Edna Murphy, Burr McIntosh, and Robert Ober are co-starred in the play, which portrays Blue as a shell-shocked world war veteran, spending years in a hospital, while his sweetheart and aged father believe him to be dead.

His memory gone, he returns home, where unknown he becomes a famous pilot. One day a plane crashes which he is piloting, and he is seriously injured, and apparently loses his mind. His subsequent escape from the asylum where he is taken, and thrilling flight to the girl he loves to save her from a dangerous predicament furnishes an impressive plot.

"Across the Atlantic" is at the Royal Monday and Tuesday.

College Picture
A great college story of youth and pep is at the Royal Wednesday and Thursday. This is "The Cheer Leader," starring Ralph Graves and Gertrude Olmstead. The story contains many new angles of college life and has a novel twist to it which gives it a rating as one of the outstanding collegiate vehicles filmed.

Nearly 4,000 students and about 300 athletes were used in the picture, which was filmed on the famous University of California campus.

Hoot Gibson, the daredevil western star, hero of a thousand and one thrills, will return to the Royal, Friday and Saturday in another thrilling affair, "The Danger Rider." The story depicts Gibson as the son of a prison warden who poses as a notorious criminal to win the heart of a girl he loves.

It is an interesting mixture of romance, comedy and adventure.

Lord's Day Society Sees More Saloons Than Churches Open

London, Jan. 26.—The heads of the Lord's Day Observance Society are planning an intensified campaign against what they call the "Continentalizing" of Sunday.

They bemoan the fact that 83 per cent of the population of London habitually neglects public worship on Sundays that there are twice as many saloons open on Sundays as churches, and that people spent a great deal of their time on Sunday in reading the Sunday newspapers. Some of the things the society wishes to do are:

Close all shops on Sundays, even the candy stores.
Put an end to all Sunday concerts, Sunday dances, Sunday movies, Sunday theaters and the Sunday ending of the Zoo.

Stop all Sunday games—golf, tennis, football—and Sunday pleasure riding.

Make it unlawful to issue Sunday newspapers.
The campaign is to be carried on in all the large cities and towns of Britain and all religious bodies are urged to assist.

City Hospital Notes
Mrs. Mary Englert, Salem, has entered the Salem City hospital for medical treatment.

OUR READERS

ANOTHER JUDGE?

Editor, The News:
Anent the agitation on the part of the southern (East Liverpool) section of the County Bar association for a second common pleas judge in this county, might it not be well to consider means of relieving the congestion in this court in some other manner; nothing can be gained by comparing our county records with those of another county.

It has been stated by those in position to know that one of the chief causes of the crowded condition of the docket is the failure to try the cases when first assigned for hearing; it is estimated that the prompt trial of cases when set down for hearing would clear up from 15 to 25 per cent of the present load. This is wholly in the hands of the judge and recently Judge Carpenter gave an illustration of what could be done in this direction.

Between 25 and 40 per cent of all actions filed are divorce cases. Would it not be a good idea to consider making our probate court a court of domestic relations and have these cases heard there, as 75 per cent are uncontested and this court time at present is not fully occupied; little if any additional expense would be entailed by this change as this judge now receives sufficient salary to compensate him for the additional work.

Next establish a municipal court to have jurisdiction over Salem and the three or four adjacent townships, with jurisdiction in cases of $1,000.00 or less. This would have the merit of doing away with our mayor acting as a magistrate and would wipe out our J. P. courts; the expense would be divided pro rata by the city and the townships, and the costs would pay the expenses of the entire court. So far as Salem is concerned the advantage in not having the mayor act as a police magistrate will at once be apparent.

Liverpool is now seeking to have two townships added to its municipal district; Painesville has four townships in its district, so you will note that this is not an untried experiment.

Returning to the probate court; the change there is in the line of having all domestic problems come before one court; marriage licenses are now issued there and all cases of juvenile delinquency come before this court; estates are there finally adjudicated and settled. What more natural than to assign the divorce actions there?
